RCC BOARD VICE-CHAIRMAN WILLIAM G. BOUIE HONORED WITH WASHINGTON BUSINESS JOURNAL MINORITY BUSINESS LEADER AWARD

RESTON, VA — The Reston Community Center Board of Governors is pleased to offer congratulations to its Vice-Chairman of the Board, William G. Bouie, on being a recipient of the 2009 Washington Business Journal Minority Business Leader Award. The award celebrates the region's diversity by honoring twenty-five of its most inspiring business leaders.

The award was presented at the Washington DC Mandarin Oriental Hotel on April 2 in the second annual recognition event. The winners were chosen from more than 100 nominations by the Washington Business Journal editorial department assisted by a panel of judges from the community. The winners were selected based on their accomplishments, their challenges overcome, contributions to their communities and their values and motivation.

"The Washington Business Journal could not have made a better choice for its 2nd Washington Business Journal Minority Business Leader Awards. Bill has had a profound impact on both the business and public sectors in Northern Virginia. He continues to provide leadership to causes and organizations that he believes in and RCC is fortunate to be one of those organizations. On behalf of the RCC's Board of Governors and its staff, I offer congratulations to Bill for this great honor," said Carol Ann Bradley, RCC Board Chair. "We are fortunate to have Bill's experience and leadership here at the RCC. Bill spreads inspiration, optimism and energy wherever he is, and we are thrilled for him," added Leila Gordon, RCC Executive Director.

William G. Bouie, is a senior executive at Siemens Enterprise Communications Group, and was recently elected chairman of the Fairfax County Park Authority and appointed to the Wolf Trap Associates Board. He has served the RCC Board of Governors since 2003 and served as the RCC Board's Chairman from 2006 to 2008.
